Intimidate \in-'tim-ə-dāt\ vb: To make timid or fearful; FRIGHTEN; to compel or deter by, or as if by, threats.

Some are born with talent, others cultivate abilities through years of hard work, while, sadly, the efforts of some fall like seeds upon rocky soil, unable to find purchase on barren ground.

"Joe has always worked hard on his game; sowing the seeds of success— seeds that, I have no doubt in my mind, will, one day, bear fruit."

—B. Edmunds, Tournament Director and Two-Time SMC Champion; Nov '06
